

Community Message from the Mayor

The Town of Cheshire is working hard to protect our residents, especially those most vulnerable, as this unprecedented novel coronavirus continues to spread. I want to assure our community that myself, the Town Council, and the Town's Emergency Management Team are in constant communication with local, state, and federal health and emergency officials to address these rapidly changing developments. Our public health and public safety officials have the Town Council's full support. I am confident that our professionals and volunteer leaders will see us through this challenge, and that this wonderful community will unite and be stronger for it.

While there are many of us involved in dealing with this crisis, it is critical for the community to have one official, reliable source for information. The Town's Emergency Management Team, speaking through Town Manager Sean Kimball along with Emergency Management Director Jack Casner and Chesprocott Health Director Mauro Esposito have been and will continue to be that unified voice. Be assured that they have the most up to date and accurate information. Updates will be posted on the Town website, on the Town's official social media, and shared with our local news outlets. Please rely on this official source for your local updates.

I would like to thank our Town staff and Chesprocott Health District Staff for their collaboration and communication, and their assistance with the difficult decisions. I also thank our resilient and caring residents for your strength, cooperation, and volunteer spirit. Stay well.

Robert J. Oris, Jr.
Mayor and Town Council Chairman
